

Success From All Sides:
A Conversation About What Works For At-Risk Students

Northern Virginia Regional VADE Conference
Lord Fairfax Community College,
Middletown, Virginia
October 13, 2006 9:30-2:00 pm

This regional workshop focuses on best practices in developmental education, with particular emphasis on the needs of at-risk students. Conference highlights include workshops and roundtable discussions, book fair, and lunch.

The conference will be free, funded through grant sources and a VCCS mini-grant. Registration has been extended through October 6. Please forward registration materials to the following address:

Dr. Miriam Moore, English and ESL

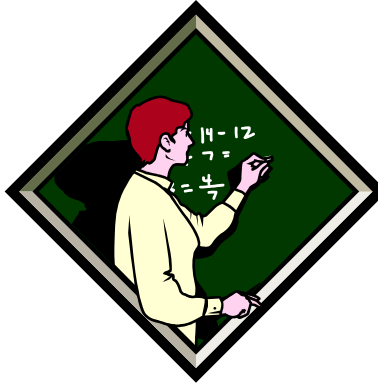

Lord Fairfax Community College

173 Skirmisher Lane

Middletown, Virginia 22645

mmoore2@lfc.edu

fax: 540-868-7100, attention Moore/English

Success From All Sides:
A Conversation About What Works
For At-Risk Students
Northern Regional VADE Conference
October 13, 2006
9:30-2:00
Special Events Center
Lord Fairfax Community College

9:00 Coffee, Publisher Display

9:30 Opening Session: Who is At-Risk?

Tammy LaDrew

Coordinator of Retention and Assessment Services, LFCC

Holly Massie

Assistant Principal, Central High School, Shenandoah County

10:15 Beginning the Conversation: Response to “Who is At-Risk?”

10:30 Break

10:45 Concurrent Sessions, Part I

Session A: READ ON! A Researched-based, Vocabulary-based Comprehensive Developmental Reading Software Program

Mary Helen Ives, Adult and Secondary Specialist

Steck-Vaughn, Harcourt Achieve

Session B: Multimedia in the Classroom—Connecting to the At-Risk Student

Dr. Robert J. Bonometti, Byrd Professor of Information Systems and Computer Technology, Shenandoah University

11:30 Concurrent Sessions, Part II

Session A: Putting Into Words What Teachers Haven’t Heard

Thomas Nowalk, Ph.D., Adjunct Instructor of ESL, Northern Virginia Community College, Sterling Campus

Session B: Bridging the Gap: Effective Use of Power Point in the Digital Classroom

John Winn, JD, LLM, Associate Professor of Business Law and Ethics, Shenandoah University

12:00 Lunch

12:45 The Conversation, Continued: Roundtable Discussions

- A. Technology and the At-Risk Student
- B. Public School and Community College Partnerships for At-Risk Students
- C. Best Practices in the Math Classroom
- D. Generation 1.5 Students and ESL: What Works
- E. Reading and Critical Thinking for At-Risk Students
- F. Writing and Critical Thinking for At-Risk Students

1:45 Closing Remarks and Evaluation

Dr. Miriam Moore

Associate Professor of English and ESL, LFCC

Registration Form

Success From All Sides:

A Conversation on What Works for At-Risk Students

October 13, 2006

9:30-2:00

Lord Fairfax Community College, Middletown Campus

Name:

Institution:

Email Address:

Address 1:

Address 2:

City:

State:

Zip Code:

Area(s) of Interest: ESL Math English

Are you a VCCS employee? YES NO

Are you a member of VADE (Virginia Association for Developmental Education)?
 YES NO

Please complete and return by October 1, 2006 to:

Dr. Miriam Moore, English and ESL

Lord Fairfax Community College

173 Skirmisher Lane

Middletown, Virginia 22645

mmoore2@lfc.edu

fax: 540-868-7100, attention Moore/English